RESEARCH

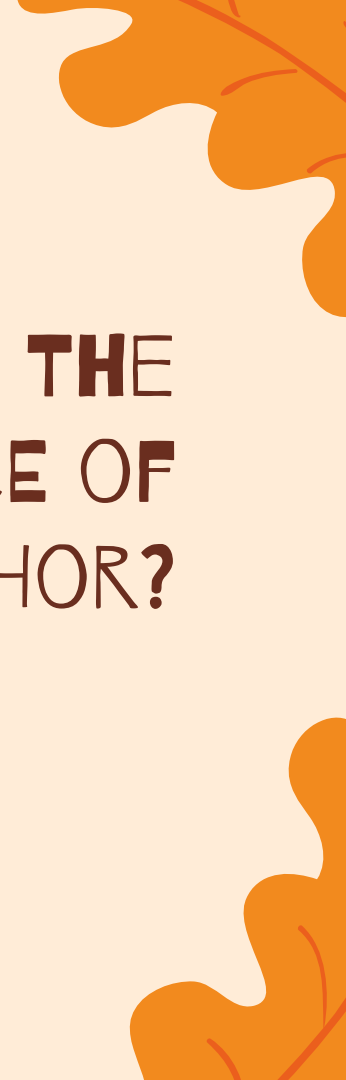

SHOULD I WORK IN A LAB OR WITH A PROFESSOR?

PROFESSOR

- Focus is usually on writing
- Easier to find for non-STEM related projects
- Less time commitment
- Less experience needed
- Get less experience out of it
- You can still present to associations, get authorship, use data
- Good for LOR

LAB

- Focus is usually on doing
- Will often require at least 10 hours per week
- Many STEM-related labs need help
- May be able to get paid (but prepare to be exploited)
- More of a learning curve but will get more direct experience
- Work with non-teaching staff

WHAT IS THE IMPORTANCE OF FIRST AUTHOR?

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

UCURBS

This site advertises researchers who need help

RESEARCH FOR CREDIT

I think if you take these classes you will be paired with someone to do research, pls ask your advisor

CLAS LABS

Info page

HONORS PROGRAM

You can apply to the Honors Program your Junior year. If you get accepted and do not already have a project, you will be paired with a faculty member.

UNDERGRAD JOURNALS

You can submit a lit review to several undergrad journals. UF no longer accepts lit reviews, so you will have to first write your paper and try to submit it somewhere.

MARC PROGRAM

Keep an eye on this website for next year's apps. For minorities interested in biomedical or behavioral science PhD programs, will get paid for research

MORE PROGRAMS

MCNAIR PROGRAM

For low-income, minority, or first gen students. Stipends are available. Application
